

Wallace Letters Online Intellectual Property Rights Notice

The images and text on this website are copyright of their creators and may not be reproduced in any form without permission from the appropriate rights holders. Copyright of data held in the Wallace Letters Online database (including letter summaries) is owned by the Wallace Correspondence Project and the Natural History Museum, London. For information about the copyright of Alfred Russel Wallace's unpublished literary works see

Please note that some repositories who have kindly supplied images of documents to us for research purposes have not granted us permission to display them on this website or to otherwise make them available to third parties.

Nothing in these terms is intended to reduce, limit, or restrict any 'Acts Permitted' in the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988 or other limitations on the exclusive rights of the copyright owner under copyright law or other applicable laws.

Notice and Takedown Policy

Every reasonable effort has been made to locate, contact, and acknowledge owners of the copyright of images and text on this website. To help us in this effort we welcome any information that might lead us to make proper attributions, identify copyright owners, or correct copyright acknowledgments.

If you are a rights holder and are concerned that you have found material on this website which you have not given us permission to use, then please contact us in writing (contact details are below) and state the following:

- Your contact details
- The nature of your complaint
- The full bibliographical details of the material
- The URL where you found the material
- An assertion that your complaint is made in good faith and is accurate
- A statement and any proof you can provide that you are the rights holder or are an authorised representative thereof

Upon receipt of the above, the Wallace Correspondence Project will acknowledge receipt of your complaint by email or letter and will make an initial assessment of the validity and plausibility of the complaint, possibly taking legal advice. The material will be temporarily removed from the Wallace Letters Online pending an agreed solution. If the complaint is valid and an agreed-upon solution cannot be reached, the material will be permanently removed from Wallace Letters Online.
